Probers Again Call Textile Union Officials

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate investigators, looking beyond the buying of a $52,500 house, check today into allegations that a labor union official used $40,000 of union money for other purchases.

Lloyd Klenert, secretary-treasurer of the United Textile Workers Union was recalled before the Special Senate Rackets Investigating Committee to testify about what Counsel Robert F. Kennedy called "the alleged use of union funds in other transactions."

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark.) used the $40,000 figure in a statement at the start of the hearings.

Klenert faced further questioning also about testimony that he and President Anthony Valente used $57,000 in union funds to help buy homes for themselves. Valente's home cost $42,500, Klenert's $52,500.

Alphonse Calabrese, a committee investigator, testified that after a series of transactions, the $57,000 was listed in a union audit report as going for "organizing expenses."

Klenert and Valente have issued statements denying any wrongdoing.

Reluctantly, Klenert pledged himself to back a proposal to halt the practice which he said now allows UTW "staff members, employees and officers" in the Washington headquarters to borrow unlimited amounts, interest free and without security, from the union.

Illegal Swim May Cost Boys $50

Two boys who climbed for the fence at the Central Park Pool for a private "after hours" swimming party have been charged with trespassing by the City Park Commission.

The boys, both juveniles, will be given a hearing sometime today.

Lee Burton, city parks and recreational director, said the commission decided to file charges because of repeated instances of fence-climbing at the city pool. "Offenders previously have been warned but apparently to no avail," Burton said.

The offenders could be fined as much as $50.

Democrats Protest U. S. Interest Hike

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democrats in Congress today fired charges of "immoral" and "inflationary" at new Treasury offerings of government securities bearing an interest rate of 4 per cent — a new post-depression high.

But a Republican, Sen. Edward Martin of Pennsylvania, said the government must "compete for money just like a corporation or an individual."

A flurry of partisan criticism built up in the wake of public announcement by the Treasury Thursday that it will pay 4 per cent interest on 24 billion dollars worth of debt refinancing coming due in August and October.

Not since October 1943, when it refunded an issue of the Fourth Liberty Loan, has the government paid an interest rate on its debt as high as 4 per cent.

A Treasury spokesman said this was the lowest rate "at which we thought we could sell government securities of these maturities."

U. S. Explodes First Air-To-Air Atomic Rocket

Weapon Launched Over Desert From Jet Fighter Plane

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (AP)—The first air to air atomic rocket fired from a plane burst over the desert today with a flash that paled the morning sun.

The Air Defense Command's newest and most powerful weapon exploded at 7 a.m. PDT.

The vivid fireball flared in the target area at an altitude of more than 15,000 feet and sent up a pink doughnut-shaped cloud.

Launched From Jet Fighter

The nuclear rocket was launched from a Northrop F89 Scorpion jet fighter.

As the rocket's cloud rose in stately fashion into clear blue sky, the vapor trail of an airplane, probably the launcher, cut sharply away to the north.

The cloud assumed somewhat the shape of the usual atomic mushroom, but the crown quickly separated from the filmy stem and floated regally with a creamy white foam expanding from the pink center.

The burst was more than 13 miles from News Nob where observers were stationed.

The launching plane was the leader in a formation of three Scorpion jets. The rocket was the Genie, manufactured by Douglas Aircraft Co.

Power of the weapon was announced only as "well below nominal." A nominal bomb is rated as the energy equivalent of 20,000 tons of TNT. From the size of the fireball and the noise of the explosion it seemed likely that it was far down in the range of kilotons.

Col. J. H. Atkinson, commander of the Air Defense Command, disclosed before the test that air to air rockets with atomic warheads already are in the inventory of his force. The weapons are designed to knock down invading bombers.

Col. Atkinson said defense command planes do not carry these weapons but they could be put into use in a matter of minutes.

In Progress Since 1949

The program to develop the nuclear air to air rocket has been in progress since 1949 and many tests have been run on the atomic device and the rocket. Today,

FBI Apprehends 2 Wanted In County

LISBON — James Booher, 21, of Columbiana and Glen Curl, 22, of Negley, were returned to Columbiana County Thursday by Sheriff's deputies after they were picked up by the Federal Bureau of Investigation at Elizabeth, Ill.

Both subjects were involved in the breaking and entering of the Bruce Buchner home at East Palestine Rd. on June 2, when two power mowers, fishing equipment, shot gun and rifle and electric iron were taken.

Both pleaded guilty before Justice of the Peace Felix Butch Thursday, and were bound over to the September Grand Jury under $1,000 bond each. Unable to make bonds, they are now confined to county jail.

Donald Curl, 22, twin brother of Glen, and James Sorrell, 23, of East Palestine Rd. 2 are free on $1,000 bonds, charged with the same offense.

The sheriff's department requested the FBI to pick up Booher and Glen Curl on a charge of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution.

Reversal Of Cut In Aid Bill Sought

House Lawmakers Gird For Showdown

WASHINGTON (AP)—Foreign aid supporters counted on President Eisenhower's appeal and a big House attendance today to reverse a heavy cut voted Wednesday in the foreign aid bill.

But both friends and foes of the multi-billion-dollar measure were cautious about predicting the outcome as the House gathered for a showdown.

The lawmakers prepared to meet earlier than usual in a drive to finish action on the embattled bill by nightfall.

As it now stands, the bill authorizes $3,042,333,000 to aid other countries economically and militarily during the next 12 months. This is $902,300,000 less than Eisenhower sought, counting the 20 million dollar cut voted Wednesday by the House.

First on tap today was a leadership move to reverse the Wednesday action. The House voted 106-100 then for an amendment by Rep. Bentley (R-Mich.) to reduce to 500 million dollars the economic aid funds to support defense programs of allies.

Eisenhower had requested 900 million dollars. The Senate cut that figure to 800 millions, and a House committee had further reduced it to 700 millions before the bill got to the House floor.

Eisenhower said in a statement after the Bentley move succeeded that the cut to 500 millions "can be considered as no less than a threat to our nation's security and that of the free world." He asked for a return to at least the 800 million dollar figure approved in the Senate.

Representatives Carnahan (D-Tenn.) and Clegg (R-Ill.) are expected to return home sometime late this evening.

Miss U. S. A. Admits She Is Married

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—The new Miss United States in the Miss Universe contest stands to lose her title and the right to compete further because she is married, contest officials said today.

Leona Gage finally stopped denying her marriage this morning and said she is the wife of an airman and mother of two.

Leona came here as Miss Maryland, giving a hometown of Glen Burnie, a Baltimore suburb.

Actually, she was married at 14 to Gene Norris Ennis, 28, Air Force staff sergeant stationed at Friendship International Airport. The children are David Nathan, 2 and Gene Jr., 3.

Ennis mother, Mrs. Clarence Long of Crisfield, Md., today revealed the marriage of her son and Miss Gage.

Infant Electrocuted At Washingtonville

A 19-month-old Washingtonville girl was electrocuted this morning after wrapping a toaster cord around her hand while being given a bath.

The victim, Millicent Toni Rohrer, was given artificial respiration for nearly an hour and heart injections but attempts of a Leontonia physician to revive the child were futile. She was pronounced dead at 8:15 a.m.

Mrs. Kurt Rohrer, the mother, was bathing Millicent in the sink in the kitchen. At the same time, she was completing the bathing of her son, Ivan, at the kitchen table. Millicent leaned back and pulled the toaster cord when her mother was busy with the other child and was electrocuted, it was learned.

Columbiana County Coroner Ernest Sturgis is investigating.

The daughter of Kurt W. and Susan Irene Farmer Rohrer of Cherry St., Washingtonville, Millicent was born Dec. 10, 1955, in Salem. She was a member of the Robbins Memorial Church at Washingtonville.

Besides her parents, she is survived by two sisters, Emily Jewel and Dorothy Marie; and two brothers, John Kurt and Ivan Ellis.

Fined For Speeding

LISBON — C. C. Superfisky, 50, of Tiltinsville, was fined $20 and costs Thursday by Acting Mayor Felix Butch on a state highway patrol charge of speeding.

Mayor Wilbur Warren is in Columbus on business. He is expected to return home sometime late this evening.

New Research Department Being Built

Electric Furnace Co. Expansion Under Way

A completely new and larger research and product development building is now under construction on the west end of the Electric Furnace Company property on W. Wilson St.

The construction was brought on by the need for development of new processes and procedures in the industrial furnace field, announced President K. U. Wirtz.

The building will replace the existing research department and will be approximately 130 feet long and 80 feet wide. It will be served by a motorized traveling crane accommodating a lift of 16 feet. The side walls are being constructed of masonry and aluminumized steel.

The roof will be equipped with skylights and with a continuous ridge ventilator. Arrangements also are being made for the loading and unloading of large trucks within the building.

To Be Completed In Fall

In addition to housing the research department equipment, the building will accommodate a new chemistry laboratory and offices for the research department.

When completed by September, the department will include a modernized continuous strip heating furnace to replace the present 80-foot "lab" furnace, a bell-type furnace, special atmosphere equipment which will be designed to provide all types of prepared atmospheres used on industrial furnace installations and a complete ammonia system for atmospheres.

It will also house wire mesh belt conveyor furnace equipment, carburizing equipment, hardening equipment, quench equipment with accessories and annealing furnaces and brazing furnaces.

The continuous strip annealing furnace will occupy a space 140 feet long and will handle ferrous and non-ferrous strips in widths up to 28 inches.

With this new research building, the company expects to expand its heat-treating services for industry. Also with these research facilities, the Electric Furnace Company expects to be in a position to handle special research problems for all industries requiring heating processes.

The Salem firm's founding dates back to 1911, having moved to its present location in 1916.

The company builds both electric and fuel-fired furnaces, together with auxiliary equipment, for heat-treating and processing finished and semi-finished metal products.

Civil Rights Bill Changes Pending

Democratic Support Sought By Knowland

WASHINGTON (AP)—Additional concessions to Southern foes of the administration's civil rights bill were in the making today.

Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California said he was consulting with spokesmen for Northern Democrats in an effort to reach agreement on an amendment to the part of the bill that has drawn the heaviest Southern attacks.

He told newsmen he hoped a specific proposal could be presented at a closed-door conference of all Republican senators, the second such meeting called in as many days to discuss the House-passed measure.

He declined to discuss how far supporters of the bill might be willing to go in meeting Southern protests against Section 3. Under that section, the attorney general could obtain Federal Court injunctions for the enforcement of civil rights in general.

But Knowland said that if "an area of agreement" were found among Republicans and Northern Democrats, he might offer an amendment in the Senate later in the day.

One amendment to Section 3 already has been put forward by Knowland and Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.). It would repeal a reconstruction era law which permits the President to employ troops to enforce court orders in civil rights cases.

Sen. Russell (D-Ga.), leader of the Dixie forces, said Thursday he was "grateful" for this amendment, but he told the Senate it failed to "remove the objection that his is a force bill—a force bill of the rawest kind."

He said it still would permit the attorney general to use "all the might" of the federal government.

Police, Hounds Scour Area In Holmes County

2 Men Shoot Victim Twice; Beat Wife; Take $9 From Home

MILLERSBURG, Ohio (AP)—A score of law enforcement officers aided by a bloodhound early today scoured hilly, wooded country in a Holmes County Amish settlement for the slayers of a young farmer.

One report said the trail of the two men—one described as a six-footer wearing a cap similar to that worn by police officers and the other a short, blond man—led to a dense thicket which had been surrounded.

Identified Dead Man

Mrs. H. R. Weiss, wife of the Holmes County sheriff, identified the dead man as Paul M. Coblenz, about 25.

Authorities said it appeared Coblenz had been shot twice, and that the man's 25-year-old wife was beaten severely. She is under a doctor's care at her home, a basement-like dwelling of a temporary type used by families while work proceeds or construction of the house.

Reports $9 Missing

Mrs. Coblenz told officers about $9 was missing from the house. After treatment, she was placed under sedatives and was not questioned further.

The couple's 3-year-old daughter was not harmed, officers reported.

A truck belonging to R. J. Patterson of Millersburg, and stolen from Holmesville, was found abandoned near the Coblenz home on Ohio 241, about 3½ miles west of Mount Hope.

Mrs. Weiss said the slaying was reported about 11 p.m. Thursday night, but that it may have happened some time earlier, since the Amish home has no telephone. The Amish people, who cling to traditional customs and dress, also do not use motor vehicles.

Patrol, Sheriffs Aiding

Aiding Sheriff Weiss were the Ohio Highway Patrol and sheriff's departments from surrounding counties.

The Coblenz farm is near Mount Hope in this central Ohio county.

Columbiana County Sheriff Russell VanFossan this morning at 1 took some bloodhounds to Holmes County to aid in the search for the two men.

Wall Of Water Jeopardizes 1,000 Persons

CAPULIN, Colo. (AP)—A thousand persons, their homes and land in jeopardy, watched apprehensively as workmen tried to plug a gaping hole today in the face of Terracer Reservoir dam.

"This is the critical period," said highway patrol chief Gilbert Carrel following an aerial inspection.

"But the situation looks somewhat improved."

Five bulldozers ripped dirt from a mountainside near the crumbling earth-filled dam and tossed it into the hole believed created by recent cloudbursts.

The 45-year-old dam in southern Colorado, full for the first time in years, groaned with the weight of nearly six billion gallons of water behind it.

Below, in a valley stretching virtually to Albuquerque, N. M., lie dozens of small communities and many isolated farms.

All 300 residents of this town were evacuated to higher ground Thursday and those in La Jara, Manassa and Sanford, Colo., were alerted to flee should the dam burst.

Work crews have dumped several tons of dirt and rocks in the hole 60 feet below the top of the 160-foot-high dam. Water still pouring through the breach today turned clearer, indicating little new earth was being torn loose.

Lieut. Gov. Frank L. Hays, who flew over the scene late Thursday expressed belief the dam would hold, barring a new cloudburst. It rained lightly on and off, during the night.

"That hole is the size of a house," said Hays.

14 Held For Plotting To Murder Nasser

CAIRO (AP)—Egypt's semiofficial Middle East News Agency has confirmed reports that 14 men are being held on charges of plotting to assassinate President Nasser and members of his regime.

Salah El Din, foreign minister in the last Wafdist party government before the overthrow of King Farouk in 1952, was named as the ringleader.

The announcement said nine former military officers and five civilians were arrested in April and are awaiting trial in a military court.

No trial date was mentioned. They were rounded up, the agency said, just before they were reported ready to invade Nasser's government offices during a Cabinet session, assassinate the entire group and set up a government.

Bound To Happen

Legal beagles who have been baying at the U. S. Supreme Court heard a bad echo when a federal judge in Kentucky fined an FBI agent for refusing to turn over records to the federal court for possible use in an alleged case of fraud against the Federal Housing Administration.

This was bound to happen if they kept baying. A former New York State attorney general, U. S. Sen. Jacob K. Javits warned fellow lawyers in a speech at the American Bar Association convention this week that they were risking chaos with careless criticism of recent Supreme Court rulings. One of these was the ruling that the FBI cannot withhold from a defendant information in its files with bearing on his case.

Sen. Javits fears that if lawyers add their clamor to that of irresponsible politicians and commentators who have decided this would be a good time to blast the Supreme Court off its foundations, the result might well be a catastrophe. What is happening now, he believes, is more dangerous than Franklin Roosevelt's attempt to pack the Supreme Court to make it bend to his will during the New Deal.

There can be no government of law in the United States without compliance. The law and the legal profession which serves it could be destroyed if contempt expressed by recent critics of the Supreme Court became common. The danger of revolt against the law is always present. The stability of a government of divided power is always threatened by upheavals which might destroy one of the three co-equal branches of government — and the judiciary would be the first to go. Legislators and administrators know that.

Sen. Javits thinks lawyers, at least, should know better than to take the line that courts should be upheld only when judges please their critics.

Rewriting The Record

We do not apologize for our newspaper co-workers in Washington when we point out that they muffed the point in the recent debate over Oklahoma Sen. Kerr's snide remark about President Eisenhower's brains.

When Sen. Capehart of Indiana went to the mat with Sen. Kerr, the argument was about the fact the latter had doctored the Congressional Record to make it say the President had no "iscal" brains, when in fact Sen. Kerr had said the President could not study the fiscal policies of the government without brains and "he does not have them."

This was a heated debate over the practice of letting members of Congress rewrite their remarks for the Congressional Record at will. As Sen. Neuberger of Oregon pointed out, a senator can do this to such an extreme it amounts to falsification of a public document.

The news from Washington about this particular skirmish made it appear that a couple of legislators were having a bumbling difference of opinion over the intelligence of President Eisenhower. It was nothing that aimless or that amiable. The issue was over the right of a public official to falsify a public record.

Get The Idea?

An obscure account in New York City newspaper about 30-day jail sentences passed on a dozen persons who refused to take shelter in an alert drill gives a glimpse of the future of preparedness for nuclear warfare.

Civilian Defense has no other answer for the problem created by resistance to the idea that nuclear warfare can be survived if it strikes close to home, and the idea that the threat is real enough to justify drastic measures.

In New York, refusal to take shelter when ordered to do so is a violation of the State Defense Emergency Act. Those who wondered how Gulf Coast residents could be made to save themselves from hurricanes headed their way now have their answer.

Life has vague value under such circumstances. But 30 days in jail — that would be worse than death itself.

Conversion Table

Whenever the figure wizards talk about the highest level ever of wage rates, profits, national income and value of the national product, we think about lunch.

This is not an obsession about food but a handy way to understand what the figure wizards are talking about.

We flounder whenever a figure gets beyond six digits. Fact is, the wizards flounder, too, as far as comprehending the value reflected in millions, billions and, before long, trillions. They are like bank tellers, who handle money professionally by bale-lots but count out their own income a dollar at a time like everybody else.

A bachelor sometimes is a man who envies married men until he gets married.

Even though most young men pick out an engagement ring by themselves, the girl is sure to have a finger in it.

Far From Liberalism

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Few Politicians Delay Work Of Senate

The whole business of the Congress — including many a vital measure desired by the executive branch of the government — is stagnated because of the efforts of a few politicians to gain some votes in the next election by enacting now a so-called "civil rights" bill.

David Lawrence

Weeks and weeks of debate are ahead and the really important "civil rights" that ought to be protected are being ignored. Communists can openly preach the overthrow of the government, and subversives can plot against the security of the United States and infiltrate the government itself but not a single law of prevention is being pressed for passage.

All the Senate's time is being spent to pass a bill to punish, without jury trial, officials of state or local governments for offenses they have not committed but theoretically may commit in ruling on the eligibility of voters.

This could mean eventual intrusion into and direct supervision of the manner in which state and city elections are conducted everywhere in the United States. IT COULD MEAN investigations into alleged impairment of voting rights by the use of undue influences before election day.

The whole controversy is centered on how to police the states of the Union, which have always had full authority to make their own vote-eligibility laws. There is talk of using troops to coerce the states.

President Eisenhower says he can't imagine any circumstances under which federal troops would be used to enforce school integration or other provisions of the pending "civil rights" bill. The natural question which this in turn propounds is why any such statutes should remain on the books or any new measures be proposed that could be used to invoke military force.

The truly liberal point of view abhors military intimidation in any form in a democracy. Only in a fascist or communist state is the military threat held over the heads of the people in order to get them to conform to a centralized government's edicts.

Every day that passes widens the gap between those in Congress who understand and those who do not understand the problems of the South.

THE DEBATE in the Senate has brought out some significant information. It has revealed, for instance, that white juries generally do convict white persons accused of harming Negroes.

Basic is the misconception of the South's true position on the matter of mixing the races. It is often remarked in the South that the "southerner dislikes the Negro race but likes the individual Negro whereas the northerner likes the Negro race but dislikes the individual Negro."

During the current debate in the Senate a characteristic comment was made by Sen. Scott, Democrat, former governor of North Carolina, who said:

"My father had a considerable farming operation in the South. I worked under Negro foremen until I was 21 years of age. I got along with them all right."

"When I was only a little tot I would slip away from home, and when my mother could not find me, she knew exactly where I was. I was in one of the colored homes, eating dinner or breakfast. I enjoyed it."

"I enjoyed their company and I think they enjoyed mine. I have always helped them, and will help them again. They are my friends."

"MODERN - DAY carpetbaggers, if you please, are not interested in the welfare of either the white or the Negro people in the South but are interested only in the political advantages they can gain on election day."

Day after day charges are being made in the Senate debate that the southern people cannot be trusted to give fair trials by jury to Negroes.

This is the justification claimed for passing a law making it possible to try, through the device of "contempt" proceedings, those persons accused of offenses growing out of disputes over voting eligibility. And, of course, in contempt cases trial by jury is automatically denied.

As to the fairness of Southern juries to Negroes accused of crime, Sen. McClellan, (D-Ark.), said this to the Senate: "In the South, if a white jury gets the impression that someone has imposed upon a helpless Negro, they will immediately find the Negro not guilty. I have seen that happen many times."

"If we are going into these matters a little, I have said that I have no prejudice against the Negro race."

"When I was a prosecuting attorney, I defended a number of Negroes who were not able to employ a lawyer. I defended them without pay, because I believed they were innocent."

The debate on "civil rights" indicates that the proponents of "civil rights" legislation have been persuaded, as were the "radicals" of reconstruction days, that "the end justifies the means."

This certainly is not liberalism.

Hard Work

By TRUMAN TWILL

I take issue with good-old-days worshippers who feel this country does not know what hard work is any more, by golly... short hours and long vacations, plus all that machinery!

For a time, I felt the same way, remembering long days, six-day weeks, no premiums for overtime, primitive equipment and the fact my old man never had a vacation in his life.

But lately it has been plain to me, as it must be plain to anyone who thinks through the proposition, that hard work cannot be defined absolutely.

The hardest work ever performed was by galley slaves, but it meant nothing because it was a grossly inefficient way to make a boat move through the water and would have been impossible without slavery and torture.

Certainly one of the toughest places to make a living in America, except in a coal mine, used to be the steel mills — and still is. But both coal mines and steel mills have been getting rid of horse-killing drudgery as fast as they could. It was not productive enough to justify its continuation.

Take the case of a modern farmer who turns over a field with a tractor — drawn gang plow, instead of trudging endless miles in a single furrow behind a horse-drawn walking plow. He is not working as hard as his father worked, but if he tried to stop that hard he would be out of step with the times and the bank would not extend his loan.

Energy spent in work and time consumed by work are relative to the work and the times. Anyone who tries to make it appear that people today are inferior to people of yesterday because they do not work as hard is merely admitting he yearns to go back to a time when he was younger.

The funny thing about this yearning is that women never do it — never wish they could go back to the time when they swept with brooms, did the laundry through a hole in the ice, beat the cornflakes into shape on a flat rock and started and ended each day by beating out a mazaruka on the udder of the family cow.

Women know when they are well off. What they learned at their mothers' knees was: "A woman's work is never done from early dawn to setting sun — and if you cannot do something about it, dolly, you do not deserve a husband."

The emancipated sex traded drudgery over a hot stove for a chance to see the world in the family car while running errands. Women waste no time sentimentalizing about some point in time when they might as well have been galley slaves.

Both men and women now do tasks which would have overtaken the capacity of old-timers who sweat it out by the bucketful before the Age of Enlightenment. Teamsters, for example, never were noted for much but their vocabularies in the horse-drawn days. Can you imagine a mule-skinner skimming the highways in a 30-ton auto rig capable of making 400 miles in a bob-tailed day in the hands of an ever-lovin' driver?

The good-old-day worshippers who think old-fashioned hard work has gone out of style are right. But there is nothing to weep about. The country could not afford back-breaking inefficiency any more. There is a new-fashioned kind of hard work today — a kind that takes place between the ears, instead of between the neck and the tail-bone.

SIDE GLANCES

By Galbraith

"The old boy is having a bad day—you didn't laugh at that fishing gag he tells us after every vacation!"

His New Mount

America's 3rd City--On Wheels

America's third largest "city," permanent population three million-plus, has sprouted all over the country, and all on wheels.

The residents may have some vague line of inheritance from the wanderers of the "Grapes of Wrath." But today's trailer residents have much more in common with the most solid citizenry of any town than they do with any indigent pea-pickers.

Surveys have shown they have high incomes, a sizable investment in their mobile homes and they almost certainly like their towns. But they'll have to move on soon, all the same. For today's trailer dweller almost always lives that way because he's in the sort of a job that keeps him on the move. Today's resident of the wheeled "city" has little in common with trailer settlements of a quarter century ago, when Americans first took to the tow-away dwellings.

VACATIONERS and weekend fishermen made up the bulk of the original trailer buyers.

As the seven-to-eight sleepers grew into rolling one-room cabins, single men or even couples used them to tour the countryside.

During and immediately after World War II, trailers met emergency housing needs.

More recently, a new phenomenon occurred: The emergence of the trailer as permanent, year-round, but still mobile residence. Mobile home parks started mushrooming in every part of the country.

Trailer sales rose to well over 120,000 last year. And in that year alone, another 40,000 Americans settled in the new "mobile city" (third in total size behind Chicago and New York) which had become a permanent part of the national scene.

Statistics upset the popular conceptions of a mobile home dweller as a man without responsibilities who roams the country following the sun or his whims. Before the outbreak of World War II, vacationers made up 50 per cent of trailer buyers and retired people 35 per cent.

Today, less than one per cent are vacationers and less than 10 per cent are retired.

The others can be broken down as follows: 63 per cent are mobile or semi-mobile occupation workers, 20 per cent are members of the armed forces, 7 per cent are salesmen, engineers, teachers, business men and ministers.

OF AMERICA'S 5,567 inspected and approved mobile home parks, the largest concentrations are in California, Florida, and Arizona.

However, again contrary to popular opinion, the fastest growing portion of "mobile home city" is not in the South, but is being built in the highly industrialized north and east states — Illinois, Ohio, Indiana, Michigan and Wisconsin.

A recent survey conducted by a large midwest utility company presented the following picture of a typical mobile home family. The father is a factory worker and has been at his present job for one and a half years. He and his wife have one child, between the ages of 5 and 13, attending the local school.

The father and mother are registered voters in the community, and their annual income is $1,000 above the national average.

They like the town in which they live but will probably have to move within a year because of a job transfer.

Today's trailer family has chosen this mode of life because of convenience, not because of low cost — and convenience is exactly what they are getting.

AS RECENTLY as 1952, only 47 per cent of mobile homes sold were over 35 feet long. Last year, 80 per cent were over 35 feet, and 54 per cent were 40 feet or longer. In 1957, about 25 per cent of the mobile homes manufactured by one company will be 10 feet wide, two feet wider than standard, as compared to 11 per cent in 1956.

Today's mobile homes are a far cry from the trailers of the past. They include features which would only be found in conventional homes many times as expensive, may have two or three bedrooms, colored automatic washer, refrigerator and 30-inch range. The living room is finished in plank oak. There's sleeping space for as many as nine.

Air conditioning, television and garbage disposal units are fast becoming standard equipment.

Mobile home parks also offer residents the comforts they are after. Average monthly rental on a lot is $15 to $40, but some luxury lots rent for as much as $100. Many parks offer laundry facilities, a shopping center.

SOME of the large ones have such features as a swimming pool, shuffle board courts and organized social activities.

Best indication how "mobile home city" has become a permanent part of the American scene is that of the families surveyed, 19 out of 20 said they preferred their living quarters to apartments or conventional homes and would not change back even if they were offered a much larger house in exchange.

The reasons were summed up by a construction worker. He can follow building "booms," is never out of a job, never without a place to live, and never without his family, he explained. His wife finds housework greatly simplified and is relieved of the problems of constant moving. She doesn't move—her home does.

Cheerful Business Reports

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Some of the nation's leading business firms are pouring forth good news this week about profits. It helps take "industrialists" and stock traders' minds off the summer slump and the dreaded profit margin squeeze from rising operating costs.

Profit gains are far from uniform for business as a whole. But they are being reported by some of the top companies in the oil, steel, chemical, aircraft and electronics industries, and by big retail and utility companies and most of the nation's banks.

Increased sales volume is reported by most of these — but some say profits went up even when output dipped, because they'd increased plant efficiency.

Further underscoring the still dominant optimism of industry are reports from companies whose sales and earnings may be down but whose plans for expansion go right on piling up.

And for industry as a whole, the Federal Reserve Board notes that in June over-all industrial output remained at the same level as in April and May and topped the like month in 1956 by two percentage points.

Some of the reports of gains in net profit after taxes so far this year compared with last follow: The nation's third and fourth largest steel makers report gains. Republic Steel officials say first six month profits will top those of a year ago. Jones & Laughlin says net income in the April, May and June increased over the first three months of the year by 7.3 per cent, although its production of steel fell off a bit. Officials credit increased efficiency with making the difference. Kaiser steel reports record sales and profits in the first six months of this year, with net income topping last year's figures by 27 per cent.

Jersey Standard Oil officials say both the six months and the second quarter earnings are better than a year ago. Net income for the industry's largest firm is up an estimated 15 per cent so far this year.

Du Pont, largest in the chemical industry, reports first half sales up 7 per cent and net income up 7.2 per cent over a year ago.

General electric, largest in its field, in its first half statement shows its earnings running 13.2 per cent ahead of a year ago, despite the failure of a spring boost in sales of consumer durable goods (one of its chief divisions) to develop on schedule.

Detroit Edison reports gains in both income and revenue this year over last, and most other utility companies are expected to make like announcements in the days and weeks just ahead.

Most of the nation's banks show profit gains in the first six months of this year, the average being around 12 per cent over last year.

These pleasant reports, however, are offset in some degree by a large number of companies whose earnings have been clipped by a large number of companies. But the cheerful reports of the summer scene.

Thought For Today

And I will make them and the place round about my hill a blessing; and I will cause the shower to come down in his season; there shall be showers of blessing. — Ezekiel 34:26.

If thou art blessed.

Then let the sunshine of thy gladness rest

On the dark edges of each cloud that lies

Back in thy brother's eyes. — A. E. Hamilton.

Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Mr. Malenkov Speaks

Yesterday I ruled in Moscow— Now in Kazakhstan I'm put As a power plant official— With MY power fully cut!; By a dam site most obscure I've been exiled by the chief And I hear, "Not by a dam sight," When I ask, "Will this be brief?" Once I issued hard-boiled edicts With authority quite stout; Now I listen to complaints like, "Hey, my lights have just gone out!" I'm a minor light and heat man, In a climate far from hot, And I figure that Nikita Wants to show me just "watt's watt." It should not be too depressing, Or so extra grim and flat, If Nikita just "gives transfers" And will let it drop at that; But I'm feeling rather jumpy Here where snow so slowly melts; When I hear a fuse box blowing It can sound like something else. I am close to China's borders In the Altai Mountains' gloom And remember Mao's statement, "Let a million flowers bloom." Oh, I guess Nikita's with him In this extra floral slant— For there is no use denying I've been given one big "PLANT."

WHY DRAMATIC CRITICS GO MAD

"This dauntless lady, Miss Hepburn, swept through Shakespeare like a cool, refreshing breeze. Her Portia is no mere lovely picture; she is a girl of intelligence, humor and iron determination." John Chapman.

"Hepburn's Portia is a giddy adolescent who has been reading far too many novels and has remembered the prettiest postures of them all. She glides onto the stage in one or another Ellen Terry-like gown to sweep and canter and at last fall into a pool of satin on the floor. I wish I knew what she had in mind for Shakespeare's rather quiet and quick-witted maiden." — Walter Kerr.

THE DOLLAR IS NOW down around 48 cents in value and is reaching a point where folks may refuse it unless Washington gives trading stamps.

We just heard of the Wall Street stenog who rushed to the window, as that ticker tape-parade for the wonderful Althea Gibson passed, with a cry of "Tennis, anyone?"

A lot of U. S. soldiers must be wondering what the penalty is for a government which deserts them.

THIS IS NATIONAL HOG DOG month and we find that it has been marked in many places by (believe it or not) a rise in price to 25 cents, with or without mustard. There may be good economic reasons, but this is the season when a charge of a quarter for a frankfurter and roll brings home to Americans, as nothing else does, the extent of inflation.

Not many years ago the nickel all-hot was an institution, and when it went to a dime it seemed quite a boost.

Then it went to 5 and not long ago to 20 cents. But the quarter charge somehow seems incredible, alarming and extra depressing.

Liz Taylor says, "Mike and I have more fun fighting than most people have making love." It is not as crazy as it sounds. There are thousands of married folks who would find life pretty dull without a few warlike features...it would probably be surprising to know just how many wives say to their husbands, or vice versa, now and then, "Look, honey, we're getting along so well it can ruin our marriage; go to your corner and come out fighting."

Do you suppose that Mr. Malenkov's plight is due to the fact that in a message from Khrushchev to "eliminate" him it was misread "illuminate"?

Guarding Your Health

By Dr. EDWIN P. JORDAN
Questions and Answers

I can readily understand why the writer of today's first letter is slightly puzzled.

Q — I have never read anything about what happens after a thyroid gland is removed. I had a good part of my thyroid removed, and I wonder how the body gets along without such an important gland. Can you explain?

A — The thyroid is an important gland of internal secretion lying in the front portion of the neck. Sometimes, as has been explained in this column, the gland cells secrete abnormally, which causes the condition known as toxic goiter. One of the well-known treatments is removal of part of the gland by surgery. The surgeon attempts to remove enough of the abnormal tissue so that the undesirable effects will disappear, but to leave enough so that the body will get the needed amount of thyroid secretion. If not enough is removed further treatment may be necessary. If too much is removed, it may be necessary for the patient to take thyroid extract by mouth. However, in the majority of cases today the operation is successful.

Q — How can you reconcile your recent statement on fibroids that they have a tendency to grow with what a gynecologist told me that they would shrink as I experienced the menopause?

A — It is correct that usually fibroids tend to increase in size up until the time of the change of life. After that time they may indeed shrink. It is for this reason that in many instances fibroids are not operated upon if they are not producing severe symptoms, and if the patient is close enough to the change of life.

Q — I am anxious to find out something about Cushing's disease, since one group of doctors say I have it and the other tells me I do not.

A — I cannot possibly decide between the "two groups of doctors." The condition is named after the late Dr. Harvey Cushing. It is now considered to be the result of excessive production of a secretion of the adrenal glands (lying next to the kidneys), either because of a tumor of another gland — the pituitary — lying in the brain, or disease of the adrenal gland itself. The diagnosis can usually be made by laboratory tests in addition to the symptoms. Treatment depends on whether the primary source of the trouble is in the pituitary or the adrenal glands.

Quota Club Members Enjoy Dinner Meeting At Lake

Thirty members and a guest, Mrs. Wendell Church, attended the Quota Club dinner meeting Tuesday evening at the cottage of Mrs. Albert Morris at Sevakene Lake.

Assisting with the picnic dinner were Mrs. Dorothy Crook, Mrs. Esther Messersmith, Miss Lillian Schroeder, Mrs. Augusta Ibele, and Mrs. John Kuenzli.

Mrs. Ibele presided at the business meeting when an invitation was received from the Youngstown Quota Club to attend a brunch Aug. 6 at Tippecanoe Country Club.

Mrs. Messersmith reported on the recent international convention held in Cincinnati. A letter was read from Lt. Helen Beekman of the Salvation Army, thanking the club for its contribution to the summer camp program.

A gift was presented to Mrs. Helen Brumbaugh and Miss Elsie Thomas who will leave soon to make their home in Sarasota, Fla.

A committee from the local club will meet with a committee from the Akron Club July 28 to make plans for the district conference to be held in Akron.

Mrs. Morris invited the group to her home for the Aug. 13 meeting. Associate hostesses will be Mrs. Ray Pearce, Mrs. Abe Hantell, Mrs. Laura Conrad and Miss Eleanor McMurray.

Perry Grange Holds Inspection Program

Deputy and Mrs. Jack Poznel officiated at the inspection of Perry Grange Wednesday night. Announcement was made of a teenage dance tonight at the grange hall.

The program theme, "My Country 'Tis of Thee," was suggested by the state grange lecturer, Mrs. Chris Perrott sang "America," while a tableau of the "Statue of Liberty" was presented.

Four two-minute talks were given by: Eldon Groves, "Freedom of Speech and Expression"; Kathy Groves, "Freedom of Worship"; Harvey Doyle, "Freedom from Want"; and Carl Spencer, "Freedom from Fear."

Other numbers on the program included: Piano solo, "My Own United States," Denise Duke; "America the Beautiful," by the group; Preamble of the Constitution and part of the Declaration of Independence were read by Mrs. Russell Thomas.

A quiz on the United States was conducted by Mrs. Perry Hilliard Sr., lecturer; and Mrs. Perrott sang "God Bless America" during the tableau, "The American Flag." Harvey Doyle gave the closing prayer.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Juanita Swartz, Mrs. Walter Hilliard, Mrs. Leo Cline and Mrs. Charles Jakubisin.

Columbiana Christian Church Acquires New Site

Purchases Four Lots For Future Building Program

COLUMBIANA — The First Christian Church has purchased four lots for $15,000 from Mrs. Anna Mehnert as a site for the construction of a new church, Rev. Frank Lillie announced today. The total area of the four lots is 240 feet by 165 feet. Three of the lots are vacant while the fourth has a house which will be used as the parish, Rev. Lillie said.

Salem DAV Group To Attend Meeting

Rev. John E. Duffy, a retired army colonel who served 14 years as a chaplain and was wounded at Bataan and Corregidor, will be the speaker at the annual convention banquet of the Disabled American Veterans during the state convention July 26-28 in Toledo. The largest registration in the history of the DAV is expected to be recorded at the convention which local DAV delegates will attend. The Ohio DAV has reached an all-time high in membership and leads all states in that capacity for the 20th consecutive year. Joseph F. Burke of Bayonne, N.J., national DAV commander, will address the convention. A feature of the three-day meeting will be the officers school on Friday, July 26 beginning at 3:30 p.m. which will be in charge of nine national service officers of the DAV and officials of the Veterans Administration. Edward Furrer is commander of the local DAV while Robert McNeal is junior vice commander and Kenneth W. Evans, adjutant. Others attending will be Milton H. Critchfield, a past commander and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Meiter, service officers.

Ohio Legion Opens Annual Convention

CINCINNATI — The Ohio Department of the American Legion, now a mixture of aging veterans of World War I and their more youthful counterparts from World War II, opened its annual three-day convention here today. Gov. C. William O'Neill and Rep. Gordon Scherer of Cincinnati were to be speakers at the convention's opening business session. The three days will be a combination of business meetings, parades, contests and fun-making. Two candidates for the post of national commander also were to be on today's program. They are Howard C. Kingdom of Connecticut, Ohio, and Truman Wold of Fargo, N. D. The parades will come Saturday and Sunday. Legion officials said it was "almost certain" a resolution would be adopted asking for laws to nullify recent Supreme Court decisions affecting investigation of subversive activities.

Information Institute Re-elects Heckathorn

Nine industrial leaders of the Mahoning and Shenango Valleys area have been re-elected to the board of trustees of the Industrial Information Institute. Trustees who will begin another three-year term Sept. 1 include: H. M. Heckathorn, executive vice president, Youngstown Kit-Chens Division, American Radiator Industrial Sanitary Corp., representing Columbiana County. Holdover trustees include George W. Baillie, vice president, Quaker City Foundry, and K. U. Wirtz, president, Electric Furnace Co. The Institute is completing its tenth year of serving the people of the four-county Mahoning and Shenango Valleys area with information designed to help the public become better acquainted with business, industry and the community.

Pavement Proverbs

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK — Pavement proverbs for the man in the street: Bald men deserve no particular credit for going through life without splitting hairs. With them it's simply a matter of thrift. Security is the feeling a man with a steady job gets after talking to someone who has retired on a pension. The most you can do for a friend is the least you can do for yourself. Those who walk only in another's footsteps run the risk of tumbling into another's grave. If you can't build a bridge, build a footpath leading to one. Many a man gets credit for having push when all he had was pull. For every man who thirsts for a trickle of truth there are a thousand who seek the fountain of youth. A man too small to laugh at himself usually also isn't big enough to feel sorry for anyone else. If the average busy doctor would take more time to listen to his patients' complaints, he might have to spend less time later making autopsies to find out what was really wrong with them. The only thing harder to inherit than money is a tolerant attitude. One of the greatest arguments against a shorter work week is that it will force people to worry more on their own time. Any man bold enough to marry a shrew to tame her is a sure bet to leave a young widow. Nothing exceeds itself like a small success. Beware the feather-brained man who also had lead in his bottom—He has to be unbalanced. No sudden hurricane can create as much havoc in a community as the small steady wind of gossip. A husband wouldn't resent his wife's varying moods so much—if she just didn't have a different voice for every mood. There are few things in life more pitiful than a man who can only brag about the things he doesn't do. Those who are most afraid of the dark are those who look most deeply within themselves. Nothing upsets our own sense of values more than to meet a poor man who insists he is happy. We can't help wondering what his real angle is. Suggested as America's most needed invention: A breakfast food boxtop the children can mail away—and get positively nothing in return. Uncle Sam has proved one thing for sure in the post-world war: money may buy enemies—but it won't even rent a friend. A really modest old maid is one who puts venetian blinds on her goldfish bowl. Natural gas was used 3,000 years ago by the Chinese.

Village To Seek Bids For Survey Of Surface Water

LEETONIA — City Council authorized the Board of Public Affairs to advertise for bids for a preliminary survey of surface water when they met Wednesday evening. Charles M. Gard of the Willard F. Schade & Associates, Consulting Sanitary Engineers of Cleveland, explained his firm's proposal for this survey. Mrs. David Patterson, Oakdale Cemetery clerk, reported on the financial status of the cemetery. James Ciminelli and Edward Orr, property owners on Chestnut Street, asked about surface water which spills over their property. Council agreed to fill in the low spots. Cecil Crothers of Madison St., asked Council to correct the spill of surface water on Ridge St. Mike Burick read the financial report and current claims of the village. Council approved payment of claims.

REPORTS of speeding on Columbia and Walnut Streets were received and Mayor Sevenich instructed Police Chief Henry Gibson to arrest anyone exceeding the speed limit. Gibson was also instructed to warn drivers of squealing tires and loud mufflers. Dog's Case May Reach Office Of Governor

KENTON, Ohio — The case of Annie, a 105-pound St. Bernard dog under a virtual death sentence for killing sheep, may reach the governor's office. Mrs. Joan Perkins, mother of PFC Gene Perkins, Annie's owner now on Army duty in Germany, told Hardin County commissioners that the governor's office inquired into the case. She said she wants to ask the governor's office for advice. She offered to pay the $81 claim for sheep Annie is said to have killed five months ago, but was turned down by the commissioners. U. S. Court Rules Revenue Agents Overestimated Jungle Inn Winnings

By JAMES B. SIBBISON

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. tax court has ruled that revenue agents overestimated the winnings of the former gambling casino, Jungle Inn, near Youngstown, Ohio.

At the same time, the court denied the former partners in the casino their request to claim as income tax losses 100 slot machines destroyed in a 1949 raid by Ohio authorities.

The casino has been shut down since.

These rulings were contained today in an opinion on the partners' appeal of an income tax deficiency for 1948-49 totaling about $350,000.

Just how much of this amount the partners now will be asked to pay is not known. This figure will be computed at a later date.

But the bill presumably will be less than $350,000, since the court said the tax agent overestimated Jungle Inn winnings on such things as horse bets, slot machines and bingo.

In a dissenting opinion, Judge John Bruce protested that Jungle Inn's partners had failed to establish any gambling "losses," and that their winnings were at least as high, probably higher, than those estimated by the revenue agent.

Jungle Inn partners appealing the agent's figures were listed as: Anthony Delanter of Warren, Ohio, with a 10 per cent interest in the casino. Claimed deficiency: About $30,000.

The estate of the late Mary Catherine Tobin; and her husband, Edward F. Tobin, of Warren, with an interest of 25 per cent in 1948 and 20 per cent in 1949. Claimed deficiency: About $75,000.

Ralph and Tessie Coletto, husband and wife, of Cleveland, with an interest of 25 per cent in 1948 and 30 per cent in 1949. Claimed deficiency: About $92,000.

John and Shamis Farah, husband and wife, of Cleveland, with an interest of 40 per cent both years. Claimed deficiency: About $155,000.

In holding that the Internal Revenue Service had overestimated some of the winnings of Jungle Inn, Judge Arnold Raum, writing for the majority, included these examples:

Horse race bets: The tax agent estimated average bets at $3,000 a day. The court downgraded this to $2,500 a day, and $3,500 on Saturdays.

Slot machines: The agent estimated collections at $1,500 a day. The court said slot machine earnings averaged $1,000 a day.

Bingo: The agent figured the Casino broke even on bingo. The judges accepted "as reasonable" the partners' lawyer statement that bingo games operated at a loss of $1,000 a week.

In his lengthy opinion, Judge Raum also had something to say about the people who ran the casino.

"Farah (of Cleveland) was plainly the dominant figure," the judge wrote.

"The evidence shows that he furnished the physical facilities for the enterprise, that he controlled the bankroll, that he alone knew the combination of the safe. . . .

"Tobin (of Warren) and Coletto

(of Cleveland), although playing important and active parts in the day to day conduct of the business, appear to have been subordinate to Farah. . . .

"The position of Delanter (of Warren), on this record, seems to be highly mysterious.

"The evidence does not show that he contributed any capital to the partnership or what if any services he rendered to it. His 10 per cent interest in the venture could give rise to teasing speculation, but . . . we pass over the matter as being outside the issues. . . .

except troops to force school integration and other "commingling" of the races on the South.

Senators Anderson (D-NM) and Aiken (R-VI) have offered an amendment to strike Section 3 from the bill altogether, but Knowland's and Humphrey's amendment to repeal the old troop law will be voted on first.

Another revision under discussion would require a request from local authorities before the attorney general could seek injunctions to back up the Supreme Court's school integration decision.

Some senators reportedly felt, however, that the attorney general should be allowed leeway to act in cases where local school officials were taking steps to comply with the Supreme Court ruling but might be reluctant to ask for his help because of community pressures.

Modifications of Section 3 are designed to dampen sentiment for eliminating it. It's removal would limit the bill largely to a measure for the protection of voting rights.

Authority for the attorney general to obtain injunctions against violations of voting rights is provided in a separate section of the bill.

Under both sections, persons accused of disobeying injunctions obtained by the government could be jailed for contempt of court without a jury trial.

Sen. Clark (D-Pa.), a supporter of the bill, said it would be "inadvisable" to provide for jury trials in all contempt proceedings arising under the legislation.

He suggested in a prepared Senate speech, however, that juries might be impaneled to make findings of fact in criminal contempt cases, provided the jury were selected without discrimination because of race or color.

Prospectors Await Signal To Start Dash For Claims

NUCLA, Colo. (AP)—Law officers took positions in full view today of more than 400 uranium prospectors, armed and eager to dash for possession Saturday to nearly 100,000 acres of land.

Their claims to the land, being returned to public domain by the Atomic Energy Commission after nine years' exploration, can be filed after 10 a.m. It's the largest land opening in Colorado history.

The rocky terrain in southwestern Colorado is barren and thick with sagebrush but high-grade uranium ore deposits have been reported in varying amounts.

Although the AEC has drilled without success in several areas, Chamber of Commerce Manager Ed Nelson said, "there are reports of some good stuff out there."

The big majority of prospectors were well equipped, Deputy Sheriff T. J. Franks said, with geiger counters, drilling rigs and trucks. He said many also tote six-guns.

Franks said, "they're been fairly orderly, and there's no law against them carrying guns—unless the weapons are concealed or they try to use them."

The rules call for every truck, jeep or car to race off together at 10 a.m. No claims can exceed 600 by 1,500 feet.

Bomb Hoax Forces 3 Airplanes To Land

BOSTON (AP)—Three airliners carrying more than 100 passengers made emergency landings in widely separated spots Thursday night because of a bomb hoax.

Three Air France Constellations were in the air when a woman telephoned the line's reservation desk at Idlewild Airport in New York that a bomb was on one of its planes.

One Constellation landed here. Another, bound for Mexico City, came down in Montgomery, Ala., and a third at Sydney, N. S., for precautionary checks of cargoes and baggage. No bomb was found.

however, was the first time one has been launched from a plane at a stated target.

The target in this test was a pre-designated point in space, the exact altitude and distance from the launching plane of which were not disclosed.

Within 10 minutes after the detonation the cloud was only a faint misty smudge in the sky over the blue mountains rimming Yuca Flat.

When the rocket exploded, five defense command officers were on the ground directly beneath it to study blast and flash effects. They had no protection, and were not expected to need any.

14 Births Occur In County Homes To July

LISBON — A total of 14 births has been reported in Columbiana County Health District homes up to July 8, according to Dr. C. S. Palmer, county health commissioner.

The figure is a decline from last year at this time when 16 births were reported. In 1951, 63 births occurred in the county health district.

The figures show that almost all county babies are born in one of the county's hospitals, in which case the births are recorded in the health districts in which the hospitals are located.

2 Children Suffer Fractured Arms

Two area children are reported in good condition at City Hospital where they are being treated for injuries sustained while playing. They were admitted Thursday.

Colleen Baker, eight and a half-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oland Baker of RD 5, Lisbon, fractured her left wrist while playing. Chester Unruh III, eight, son of Mrs. Mary Bazilio of 365 S. Ellsworth Ave., suffered a fractured right arm when he fell from a tree.

Greenford

Mr. and Mrs. James McFarlane and son of Salem have moved to the Cosand property here. The McFarlane family recently came from Scotland.

The daughter born to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hoffman at the Alliance City Hospital has been named Marilyn Sue.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller and daughter Irene of Youngstown spent Wednesday with their daughter, Mrs. Harold Brown and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Faloon have returned from a visit with her aunt, Mrs. Jeanette Mathews of Creston, Iowa. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Rader and daughter Irene of Cadiz.

With The Patients

Mrs. Frank Kesselmeire of E. 5th St. has entered Alliance City Hospital for surgical treatment.

BOUND TO GRAND JURY

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Virgil O. Atkins, 35, was bound over to the grand jury Thursday on a charge of breaking and entering in the night season with intent to commit a felony. During the alleged breaking and entering, Atkins is said to have severely beat a 3-year-old boy, who was sleeping in the apartment.

Dulles To Allow Reporters To Visit China

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles' offer to allow a "limited number" of American reporters to visit Red China for a trial period got a mixed reaction on Capitol Hill today.

Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.) called it "the first break in the paper curtain" and "better than no American coverage at all on Red China." He commended Dulles for proposing it, but news representatives who received the offer Thursday balked at the limitations it contained.

Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) objected to the idea of the State Department saying "who could, and who could not report."

The State Department, which controls passports, now bars all Americans from going to Communist China, which this country does not recognize.

Dulles proposed a six-month trial of his limited plan Thursday at a meeting with five representatives of American news organizations. But they disagreed with his proposal that the number be limited to perhaps 12 or 15 newsmen.

The result was a decision to determine how many newsmen actually would be interested in going.

The State Department will poll newspapers, news services, magazines and radio and television companies shortly to find out how many want to send correspondents to Red China.

William Dwight, president of the American Newspaper Publishers Assn. and the other news organization representatives told Dulles that no arbitrary limitation should be placed by the government on news gathering operations.

2 Lisbon Youths Freed In Wire Theft Case

LISBON — Fred Murphy Jr., 19, and a 16-year-old youth, both of Lisbon RD 3, were released Thursday after having been taken into custody for stealing copper wire from the Ohio Edison Co.

Sheriff Russell J. Van Fossan said they were released after the company refused to file charges against them. They admitted taking about 1,093 feet of 28 stranded copper wire and selling it to Sam Kaplan, East Liverpool junk dealer, the sheriff's office said.

A theft of 9,000 feet of wire is still unsolved, Sheriff Van Fossan said.

Kiwanis Club Golfers Beat Rotary Swingers

The Kiwanis Club was proclaimed winner of the Kiwanis-Rotary Club golf contest held Thursday at the Salem Golf Club.

Forty golfers participated with Ralph Martin as medalist for Kiwanis with a score of 80; and Dr. Fred Crowage as medalist for Rotary with his score of 88. Prizes were distributed to the winners.

Sixty-five guests attended the dinner and program in the evening. R. S. McCulloch, Sr., entertained with movies.

114 Attend Lisbon Service Clubs' Outing

LISBON — One hundred and fourteen attended a joint outing Wednesday of Lisbon's four service clubs, Kiwanis, Rotary, Lions, and Ruritan at Willow Grove Park.

Dr. Raymond Weaver acted as master of ceremonies and Kenneth Hiscow, president of the Kiwanis Club, gave the welcoming address. Jack Sowell spoke for the Lions, George Nace Jr. for the Rotarians and Jack Herrod for the Ruritanes.

But they weren't sure they could get up to the 800 million dollars. Carnahan noted that only 206 of the 433 present House members voted on the Bentley proposal.

Bentley in turn said he is "not at all optimistic" that his cut will stick.

Bentley says the defense support funds can be cut safely because there is an eight-billion-dollar backlog unspent from past aid appropriations. The administration says the money is vitally needed to shore up economies of poor anti-Communist nations like Korea, Formosa, Viet Nam and others on the Communist borders.

Judge Overrules Motion For Acquittal

Clinton Defense Sets Out To Demolish 2 Vital Points

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—The defense in the "Clinton trial" set out today to demolish two vital points—violence and conspiracy—in the U.S. government's case against 11 advocates of all-white schools.

"We are going to call some eye-witnesses—people who saw that alleged violence," said Chief Defense Counsel Robert L. Dobbs of Memphis, Tenn.

They will tell "the other side of the story," he said.

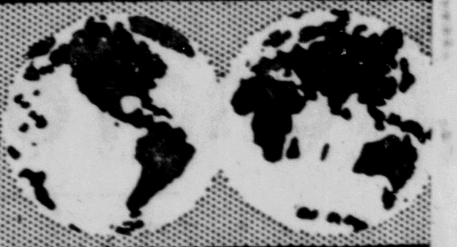

The defense battery professed not to be disappointed over having lost their hard-hitting plea for a directed verdict to acquit the 10 men and one woman.

After hearing hours of argument from both sides, U.S. Dist. Judge Robert L. Taylor made a long analysis of the case. At the end of it, he said gravely, "I am constrained to overrule the defense motion."

He said evidence exists to support the major sections of the government's accusation—that the 11 knowingly, and with common purpose, acted to circumvent a federal order to integrate Clinton High School last fall, and that "overt acts" followed.

Whether the evidence is sufficient to prove guilt, Taylor said, is not for him to

MODERN MILKING

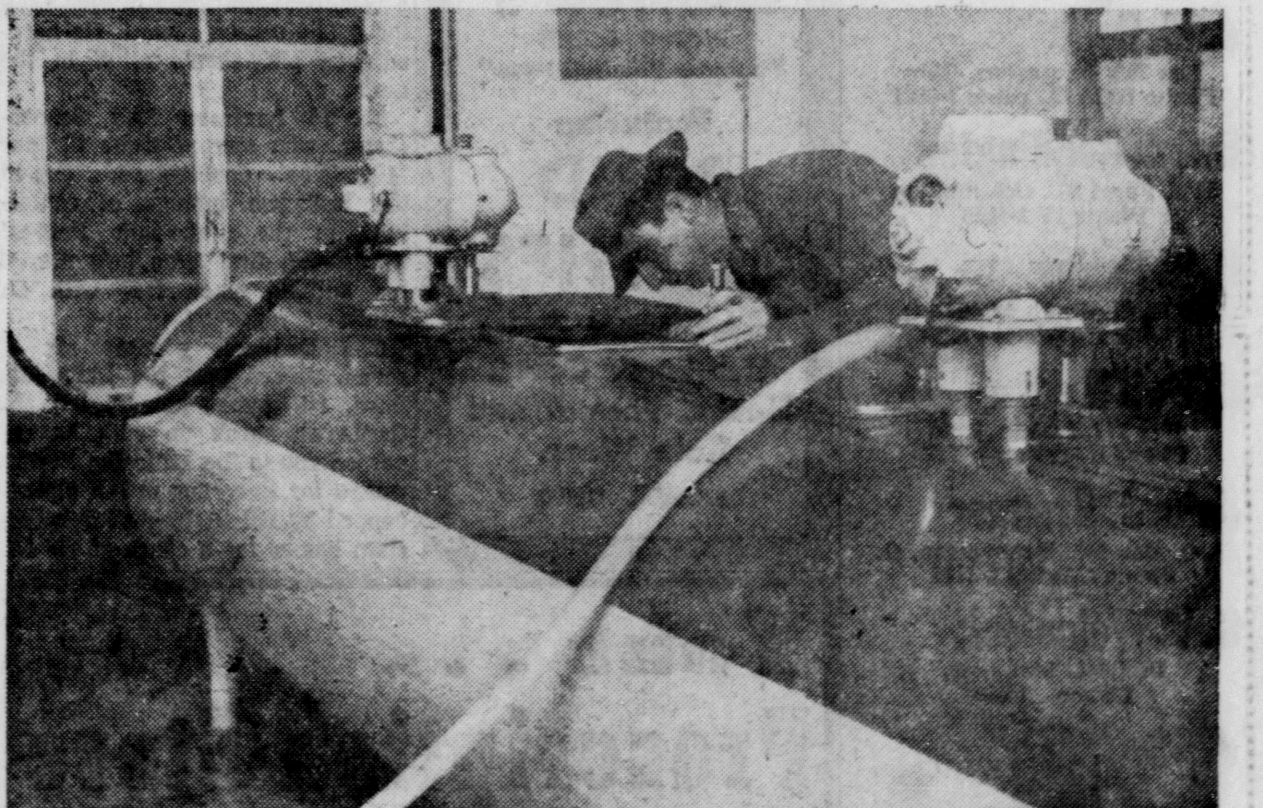

SOME CITY dwellers would be surprised to find out how far the art of milking cows has progressed from the old "hand-milking" days. A good example is the farm of Clayton Rutledge, a milkman from Rockville, Tenn. He built a $9,000 barn that is becoming a show place. The barn boasts the most up-to-date equipment. Hydraulic pressure raises and lowers the new milking machines to take care of height of each cow. Either one or all four quarters of the cow can be milked, unlike the old machines. Motor for this system is housed outside the barn. This reduces the inside noise to a minimum. Milk flows into plastic tubes, then into a set of scales which automatically weigh the milk. Then it goes into a larger glass tube where it is carried into a large bulk-tank. These newer pieces of equipment help farmers get more from barns.

Machines are not moved. Cow stands on a platform.

This set of automatic scales (on the market about a year) registers amount of milk.

Milk goes into bulk-tank, which keeps milk cool. Milk is not touched by hands.

Hendron's-Class AA All-Stars To Feature Play Tonight

Industrial Team Will Meet Marvels In Opening Contest

Hendron's Tavern, last year's Deming's Sentry, will play the Class AA All-Stars in the feature attraction when the All-Star games swing into action tonight and Saturday evening at Kelley Park.

The AA All-Star team this year will probably be bolstered by such players as Bill "Babe" Herman of Old Dutch, who has a pitching record of 5-1, and Spear of Kenmar with a pitching record of six wins without a defeat. Game time is slated for 8:30 tonight.

In the opening tilt at 7, the Industrial All-Stars will take on last year's league champ, the Deming Marvels. Standout pitchers Don Fife, Henry Miller, Marsh Sutherland, and Judge Guiler probably will be on hand for the Industrial All-Stars. Power hitter, Bill Crookston, who has blasted five home runs this season, undoubtedly will play.

City Cage Play Will Begin On Monday

The summer basketball league starts play Monday at 7 p.m. at the Centennial Park basketball court. Games this year will be played on Mondays, Tuesdays and Thursdays at 7, 8 and 9 p.m.

Seven teams have entered the league. The teams and their managers are: Esquires, Dave Zimmerman; Jets, Warren Gullett; Grads, Jerry Myers; No Names, David Hunter; Gas Men, Kenneth Woods; West End, George Burrier; and the All-Stars, Rich Hunter.

Listed below is the schedule for next week.

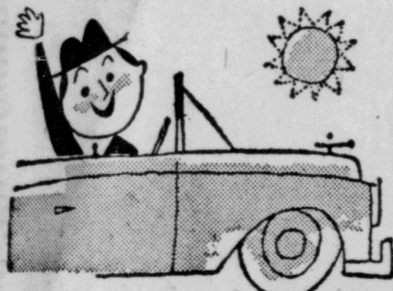

Monday, 7, Jets vs All Stars; 8, Grads vs West End; 8, No Names vs Gas Men.

Tuesday, 7, Esquires vs West End; 8, Jets vs Gas Men; 9, Grads vs No Names.

Thursday, 7, All Stars vs Gas Men; 8, Esquires vs No Names; 9, Jets vs Grads.

Milwaukee Whips Philadelphia

Brooklyn Defeats St. Louis; Pittsburgh Subdues Chicago

By The Associated Press
If you've got the idea the National League contenders have rolled over and played dead once they made the top, you're right. Nobody loses like the leaders these days.

Since the scramble really got tight early in June, the lead has changed hands no less than 10 times, with Milwaukee's Braves moving back in with a one-game edge Thursday night on a 4-2 victory at Philadelphia after Brooklyn socked St. Louis out of first with a 10-9, 11-inning stunner.

All five of the contenders—Milwaukee, St. Louis, Brooklyn, Philadelphia and Cincinnati — have been in the lead since June 8, and in that time, they've played at a combined .400 rate while in first place.

Only the Braves have played over .500 while on top, winning seven of 13 games for a .538 percentage. The Cards were 7-9 while in first for .438, Cincinnati won only two of eight for .50, Brooklyn (0-1) and Philadelphia (0-2) didn't win once while in the lead.

Cincinnati's Redlegs, who have managed to stay within two games of the top although losing eight of their last 12, remained a close fifth with a 2-1 decision over the New York Giants Thursday. Pittsburgh defeated the Chicago Cubs 6-5 with four in the ninth.

The American League took on a look of complete collapse. The New York Yankees as the world champions opened up a five-game lead, their largest bulge of the season, with a comeback, 3-2 victory at Detroit while Baltimore scored five in the ninth to beat the second place Chicago White Sox 6-2. Boston defeated Kansas City 3-1 and Washington blanked Cleveland 4-0.

The Braves, who have won six of nine since the All-Star break to take the lead for a fourth time, were without slugging Hank Aaron for the windup of the three-game sweep at Philadelphia. But Del Rice drove in three runs, two with a homer off loser Curt Simmons, to take up the slack as Aaron rested an injured ankle and joined Joe Adcock, Del Crandall, Felix Mantilla and Bill Bruton on the injury list.

Bob Buhl, who had lost four in a row, beat the Phils a third time for a 10-6 season record. He needed Don McMahon's relief in the ninth.

Second baseman Red Schoendienst, who started three of four Milwaukee doubleplays, played the last two innings in center-field in the make-shift Braves' lineup—the first time he's played the outfield since 1947 with St. Louis.

The Dodgers, winning six of seven, moved past the Phils into third, 1 1/2 games behind, left the Cards all shook up with an unearned run in the 11th. The Brooks rallied for five runs in the ninth—capped by Gil Hodges' 12th grand slam homer for a share of the NL

Foreign Tennis Stars Upset

National Tournament Enters Quarterfinals

CHICAGO (AP)—After a day of upsets among the foreign seed stars, that featured the elimination of the Australian pair of Ashley Cooper and Neale Fraser, only Japan's national champion today remained in the way of U. S. players in the National Clay Courts Tennis Tournament.

The meet, spiced by an official protest lodged against the court behavior of Cooper, Wimbledon finalist, entered the quarterfinals with all top seeded domestic performers remaining, led by defending champion Herb Flam.

Also on hand was Kosei Kamo of Japan, third seeded in the foreign entry behind Davis Cuppers Cooper and Fraser.

Cooper displayed temperamental Thursday as he fell before Grant Golden of Wilmette, Ill., 4-6, 6-4, 6-2.

Irked by linesman's calls and nettled by the crowd cheering for Golden, the Australian several times kicked or batted balls into the gallery at the staid River Forest Tennis Club.

Near the end of the match, he literally gave away the last two games, batting returns high into the air or not bothering to retrieve them.

His apparent lack of interest in the match and behavior brought about a formal protest to the U.S. Lawn Tennis Assn. by George Barnes, clay courts committee chairman.

Later Cooper said he was "mentally tired" and was weary after four weeks of competitive tennis.

Fraser, who with Cooper formed the backbone of Australia's Davis Cup hopes now that Wimbledon champion Lew Hoad has turned pro, was trimmed 6-0, 7-5 by Bill Quillian of Seattle, a 23-year-old Army private on leave from Ft. Rucker, Ala.

amo, who defeated Maxwell Brown Jr., of Louisville 5-7, 6-4, 6-3, joins Golden, Quillian, Flam, Vic Seixas, Barry Mackay, Bernard Barten and Sam Giammalva in the quarterfinals.

Salem Anglers Land Lake Erie Pickerel
Eight pickerel, averaging three to three and one half pounds, were caught in Lake Erie Wednesday by Charles Edwards and Whitey Kaecher of Salem.

The largest tipped the scales at four and one half pounds. The average - sized pickerel weighs about two and one half pounds.

The men caught over 5 sheeps-head which weighed in at an average of five pounds.

Stan Pitula Posts 2nd Defeat In Four Decisions

CLEVELAND (AP)—The limping and overworked pitching staff of the Cleveland Indians will face some of the toughest hitters in the league when the New York Yankees move into Municipal Stadium tonight.

Leading the Yankee batting attack is Mickey Mantle, who has slumped to a mere .356 batting average, Bill "Moose" Skowron, tied for the league lead with 64 runs batted in, and Gil McDougald, currently batting .305.

On their last visit to Cleveland, the Yanks bombed Indian pitchers for a total of 34 runs. They swept a three-game series from the Tribe.

Don Mossi has been picked by Manager Kerby Farrell for tonight's mound chores. Mossi, who has turned in some impressive pitching jobs, was shelled by the Washington Senators in his last outing. He left Wednesday's game in the third inning after the Senators collected four runs.

The Senators won the rubber game of a three-game series Thursday behind the three-hit pitching of Camilo Pascual. Pascual held the Tribe hitless for seven innings to notch the 4-0 shutout victory.

He struck out six and walked six while his team mates jumped on the Indians' starter, Stan Pitula, for all their runs. The victory was Pascual's seventh against 10 losses.

Russ Nixon got two of the Tribe's hits and Gene Woodling, who has now hit safely in eight straight games, got the other. Nixon singled in the seventh and ninth. Woodling singled in the eighth. The Indians couldn't get a base runner past second against Pascual.

Pitula got off to a shaky start. The first three batters to face him got hits. Mil Bollinger singled and was out trying to stretch the hit into a double. Pete Runnels doubled and was brown out at home when he tried to score on Jim Lemon's single.

Al Smith threw wild to first after fielding Roy Sievers grounder and the Senators finally got a run home. Lemon scored from second. Pitula spread five Washington hits over the next five innings and kept the Indians within striking distance of the Senators.

In the seventh, Washington iced the game, scoring three runs on five hits and sending Pitula to the showers for his second loss in four decisions. Cal McLish came on in relief and held the Senator hitless for the rest of the game.

Stan Musial Smacks 600th Homer Of Career

BROOKLYN (AP)—Stan (The Man) Musial made another move up among baseball's all-time hitters Thursday, with two hits—one his 600th double—as his St. Louis Cardinals lost to the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Musial now has 2,895 hits for his career, good for a fourth place tie with ex-great Rogers Hornsby in the National League list. He's 3th in major league records.

The double left Musial three shy of Paul Waner's runnerup total in the National League. Honus Wagner tops the NL in two-baggers with 651.

Snead, Ford Are PGA Favorites

Several Dark Horses Survive 1st 3 Rounds

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Sammy Snead and Doug Ford continued to rule as red-hot favorites as 16 oddly-assorted survivors surged today into the 39th National PGA championship's fourth round of match play.

Several darkhorses, who surprised everyone including themselves by getting this far in the manto-man combat, were scattered through the list. But plenty of tournament - tested talent was still around, too.

Dow Finsterwald of Tequesta, Fla., and Athens, Ohio, one of the brightest of the young stars, was the big road block in 45-year-old Snead's path today. The 27-year-old youngster hasn't been out of the money in 56 straight tournaments and has $21,447 to show for his 1957 club-swinging.

Ford, 34 and the year's big-money man with $37,946, tangles with the elder half of Goldom's star brother act, Jay Hebert of Sanford, Fla. Hebert, 34-year-old ex-Marine, was the hottest thing on the winter tour.

His 29-year-old brother, trumpet-playing Lionel, also is still around and has Mike Souchak, the former Duke footballer, as his foe.

In the same bracket are 41-year-old Claude Harmon, former Masters champion, who tangles with fiery Tommy Bolt of Los Angeles; and Henry Ransom, the 46-year-old former welterweight boxer and Texas ranch owner, who meets 38-year-old Walter Burke-mo of Franklin, Mich., three times a PGA finalist in the last six years.

Ted Krol of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., 37-year-old winner of the world championship last year, meets National Open champion Dick Mayer in the Snead-Finsterwald bracket, but the other four are horses of a darker hue.

Milon Marusic, 42, Webster, Groves, Mo., who followed the tournament trail for three years without a victory, and Donald A. Whit, 26, of Alameda, Calif., were foes in one fourth-round match. Marusic ousted defending champion Jackie Burke by 2 and 1 Thursday.

The other pair are 51-year-old Charles Shepard of West Newton, Mass., and Warren Smith, Jr., 41-year-old pro at the Oak Hill Club in San Antonio.

Los Angeles—Joe Dorando, 146, Hollywood, Calif., knocked out Rudy Mendoza, 146, Los Angeles, 5.

Purity Wins Girls' Title; Old Dutch Eliminates Moore's

Marvels Lose To E. Furnace

Petrucchi's Blanked By Bloomberg's 8-0

By MARK MILLER

Purity Dairy won the girls' Columbiana County softball title by beating Schwartz 18-5 and Old Dutch of Alliance eliminated East Liverpool's Moore's 6-1 in county tournament play at Kelley Park Thursday night.

In regular city league play at Kelley Park, Bloomberg's blanked Petrucchi's 8-0 in five innings, and Electric Furnace lowered the boom on the Deming Marvels 11-3.

Purity had little trouble as they pounded out 23 hits. Schwartz's contributed to the winners' cause by making 12 miscues. Purity started the contest by scoring 11 runs in the first inning and then coasted the rest of the way.

SCHWARTZ'S WHO WERE held to a no-hitter Tuesday evening tried hard to make a contest of it. Inexperience seemed to be the major factor in their defeat, although they did produce four hits which brought in five runs.

John Clendenning, of Moore's gave up just four hits, two of them bunt singles, but seven errors by his teammates cost him the game.

In the second frame, Old Dutch scored three runs on no hits. Williams walked and was sacrificed to second by Hadiet. Roesti popped to first, Klan walked, and both runners scored when Allenbaugh was safe on an error. Allenbaugh scored when Herman was safe at second on a throwing error.

OLD DUTCH MADE IT 6-0 in the sixth. Klan struck out, Allenbaugh walked, and Herman struck out. Halk walked, Vizuso doubled, scoring Allenbaugh and Halk. Moore then singled, scoring Vizuso.

Moore's tallied their only marker in the top of the seventh when Talbott doubled to center. On a force out Talbott moved to third and on a ground out, third to first, Talbott scored.

G. Fowler gave up only two hits to Petrucchi's and his team backed him up with eight hits, most of them for extra bases. Mat Kline led the victors with two triples. Shaffer had a perfect night at the plate with two successive hits.

THE FURNACE TEAM'S 11 hits coupled with the losers' seven errors, easily won them the tilt. Furnace wrapped the game up in the first canto.

Allison walked, Sutherland singled and Manning bunted safely to load the bases.

Gallo walked, forcing in Allison with the first run. Hanna reached second on an error, scoring Sutherland and Manning.

Cosgrove popped to short, Galbreath walked, to load the bases, and Rohrer bunted, scoring Gallo. Smith struck out, and Hanna was caught attempting to steal home to complete a double play. From then on Furnace was never headed.

Facts and Fancies About Sports

By MARK MILLER

Bill Crookston's big bat has catapulted him into the lead for four batting titles.

The spots Crookston holds thus far are home runs hit, four; hits, 19; runs scored, 20; and runs batted in, 20.

Crookston, of Lincoln Machine in the Industrial League, also is second in batting averages with .404. Bill Oderizzi of Eljer is the current leader, batting .428.

Other leaders in the Industrial League are: doubles, Don Fife of the Deming Jets and Smith of Electric Furnace, tied with four; and triples, Paul Ritchey of the Lincoln team, five.

Top pitching record in the league belongs to Henry Miller of Eljer who has won nine games while only losing two. Don Fife leads in the strike-out department with 68. The earned-run average also belongs to Henry Miller with a neat 1.81.

THE POWER BATTING of Dick Boughton of Hendron's has made him front runner for three spots in the batting race in the AA League. Boughton leads in batting averages, .43; hits, 16; and runs batted in, 14.

Jim Barnes of Hendron's has scored 11 times to lead in that department. Eddie Bozick of Stepnic's leads in triples with three, and Bozick, Barnes and Boughton are tied in the home run department, each having hit two. Wayne Hahn of Hendron's leads in doubles with four.

Top pitchers in the league are: Spear of Kenmar, 6-0; and Dave Ehrhart of Hendron's 4-0. Glen Mercer leads in strike-outs, having fanned 63 batters. Leo Kline of Hendron's has the lowest earned-run average, 0.70.

In the Class A League, Wil Krabill of Westville has the top batting average, hitting at a .419 clip. B. Fowler of Bloomberg's lead in hits and doubles with 15 and five, respectively.

GROVE OF WESTVILLE leads in runs and triples with 16 and three, respectively. Weizenecker of Westville leads in runs batted in with 14, and Matt Klein of Bloomberg's has smashed out three home runs to lead in that department.

John Shelton of Westville is the league's top pitcher. Having pitched in every game his team has played, he has won 12 games while losing only one. Shelton also leads in strike-outs with 77.

Miller of Colleen's Dairy has the lowest earned-run average; no runs have been scored against him. Martha Sheppard of Purity Dairy and Janet Reeder of Purity lead in all departments but two. Sheppard has the batting lead with a .580 average.

She also leads in hits, with 18; triples, five; and runs scored, 20. Reeder leads in doubles, four; and runs batted in, 17. She also is the top pitcher, with a record of four wins and no defeats. She has the lowest earned-run average, having allowed the opposition no runs.

Stanley of Sekely's leads in strike-outs with 18, and Molly Allenbaugh of Homeworth and Joan Slaby of Sekely's lead in the home run department with three apiece.

LOU VENDITTI of East Liverpool, head football coach, is seeking an assistant high school coach to fill a vacancy on his coaching staff. Lou is looking for either a line or end coach, and hopes to have one signed before practice begins next month.

TIM ROELEN, San Fernando miler this past season, was named the city's trackman of the year recently. Roelen won the city meet four lapper in 4:22.3 and then took the state title in 4:20.2. He is the son of Paul Roelen, formerly of Salem.

Giant President Will Recommend Franchise Move

NEW YORK —The New York Giants "is dead."

By next year, the National League club will have shifted to San Francisco, or Minneapolis, or someplace.

Club President Horace Stoneham laid it on the line Thursday, announcing he will recommend to his board of directors that the Giants quit the Polo Grounds at the end of the season, and indicating there is very little chance of the club finding another ball yard in New York.

Stoneham also made it clear that the Giants already have league permission to transfer their franchise, even if the Brooklyn Dodgers choose to stay behind.

League permission for the Giants to switch to San Francisco and the Dodgers to move to Los Angeles—when the two clubs decided to do so—was thought to be a package deal, with one move hinging on the other.

"That is not true," said Stoneham.

Stoneham indicated San Francisco and Minneapolis are the prime possibilities for a new Giant home, but left the door open for any "satisfactory deal"—which he defined as a new and adequate ball park and a rental rate based on a percentage of the attendance.

A move to Minneapolis would require league permission again.

Joe Cronin, general manager of the Boston Red Sox, said Thursday night the American League club "wouldn't stand in the Giants' way if they wanted to draft the San Francisco territory." The Red Sox own the San Francisco franchise in the Pacific Coast League.

California mayor, John Purchio of Hayward, will fly here today to offer the Giants an 8½-million-dollar stadium in the community located about 30 miles from San Francisco.

Virgil Smacks Into Double Play

Bell Hits Ninth Home Run As Cincinnati Throttles New York

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Cincinnati Redlegs are winning again but they can't seem to go anywhere, at least as far as their standing in the National League pennant race is concerned.

The cut-throat race in the between first and fifth places to league has reduced the margin between first and fifth places to two games, but it's the Reds who can't dig themselves out of that fifth spot.

A 2-1 victory over the New York Giants Thursday helped cut the margin between first and fifth. Tonight the Cincinnati have a chance to move up in the standings. They open a series with the fourth-place Philadelphia Phils, who are only a half game ahead of them.

Joe Nuxhall was slated to pitch against the Phils' star youngster, Jack Sanford.

Thursday in New York, Johnny Klippstein again came close to a route-going victory. He throttled the Giants until the ninth. In that frame he gave up a home run to Bob Thomson and a single to Ed Bressoud.

Manager Birdie Tebbetts didn't take any chances on the one-run lead and waved Raul Sanchez in from the bullpen for the second straight day. Sanchez converted Ossie Virgil's pop fly bunt into a double play, then got Dusty Rhodes to foul out to end the game.

The Reds themselves were considerably less than balls of fire when it came to hitting the pitches of Stu Miller and Marv Grissom.

The only damaging hit was Gus

Bell's ninth home run of the season in the third. It came after Johnny Temple walked. It was Bell's first home run since May 28. He added two singles to his day's total to build his batting average up to .298.

It is suspected that a Soviet "socialist" bomb will not be under Marxist-Leninist instructions to distinguish between management and labor leaders. Since both may be atomized in the use of democratic style, the government has started to ask labor's high command to develop secondary leadership that can guide unions and help industry regroup and recover after an atomic attack.

Some months ago, Labor Secretary James Mitchell wrote to AFL President George Meany suggesting that they get together on a master plan.

This was really started two years ago when Mitchell talked not only to Meany but to CIO leaders Walter Reuther and Jim Carey. Now that the two labor federations are merged, the talks will start again at the top.

I ASKED Mr. Mitchell to outline his plans and he put it this way:

"I can now report on what the department is doing to set up a replacement system for labor along the lines of what the Business and Defense Services Administration is doing for industry."

"A basic feature of the government's program to develop readiness for a civil defense emergency is the creation of chains of command which will assure the availability of replacements for leaders incapacitated or unavailable following an attack upon this country."

"As part of this effort, the President has caused to be organized a National Defense Executive Reserve whereby each important defense agency creates its own reserve of top level executives who can be trained and equipped to assume leadership positions in the agency in case of necessity."

"This department, along with the others, is in the process of developing such an executive reserve."

"IN ADDITION," the major mobilization agencies have been charged with the responsibility for promoting the same type of defense readiness on the part of the population group which they serve.

"Thus the Business and Defense Services Administration in the Department of Commerce has been working with industrial management to encourage them to develop personnel replacement methods as well as other readiness measures."

"Similarly, I have discussed with top union leaders the desirability of their taking similar steps to assure the continuity of trade union leadership and operations during and following an emergency."

"As you recognize, the problem of assuring such continuity of union leadership is materially different than in the case of industrial management. But I am hopeful that we will soon have some progress to report."

Few realize the chaos which can spring from failure of the labor movement and the government to get up a corps of second string leaders.

There are Communist "sleepers" in the auto industry, the steel mills, the electronic field, aircraft and even in the food industry.

UNLESS STRONG labor leaders arrive on the scene of a new factory or a plant crowded with refugee workers from bombed-out sites, provocateurs may be in action urging strikes or harping on grievances to stir dissatisfaction and thus disrupt production.

Furthermore, the labor leaders of today are skilled technicians knowing as much about distribution and production as many management executives. They can reorganize a plant, get the skilled workers up and root out the disrupters faster than any other band of men.

These labor men, too, can establish and operate emergency facilities.

At the recent Chicago convention of the Hotel and Restaurant Workers, for example, the leaders there organized a standby emergency mass feeding system. All the union's 400 locals have been asked to draw up lists of cooks.

THIS UNION has many food specialists in its ranks and can help keep a bombed-out area from poisoning itself on spoiled victuals. To be brutally frank, industry hasn't matched government or union efforts to handle masses of workers or get up replacements. There are virtually no plans up now for protection of masses of skilled workers. One company has a meager plan — it got up lists of retired workers in the areas with a schedule of their skills so they can be rushed in to replace injured men. Obviously this end of the program needs rushing. Just so we know that all the glistening standby machinery will be manned in the non-target areas.

Ohio Man Admits 10-Year-Old Murder

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—A 45-year-old Springfield man, who claims his conscience is bothering him, has admitted clubbing another man to death nearly 10 years ago.

A first degree murder charge was lodged Thursday against Herman William Snyder in the death of William Ellis Crowell, 48, of New Carlisle.

Clark County deputy sheriffs said Snyder admitted slaying Crowell after a drinking bout in January, 1948.

The deputies quoted Snyder as saying that he and some companions had been riding in an auto with Crowell and that they decided to rob him. Snyder said he hit Crowell with a bottle while they were in the car, and then again with a rock when Snyder dumped Crowell's body in a woods near Wright View Heights in Greene County.

Snyder said he took some bonds and between $600 and $700 in cash from Crowell, deputies related. Snyder said he did not remember his companions' names.

Snyder's statements were made in May while he was in county jail here on a grand jury indictment for burglary.

Snyder remained in Clark County jail until Thursday when he was taken to Greene County jail in Xenia for further investigation.

DIES OF CAR INJURIES

CINCINNATI (AP)—Louis Rice, 42, died, Thursday of injuries suffered in an automobile accident July 3. Police said Rice lost control of his car and it hit a pole and then a curb. He was thrown out.

30 'Rookies' Join Ohio State Patrol

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Thirty rookie patrolmen join the Ohio Highway Patrol today, bringing its strength to 716.

Col. Fred Moritz, superintendent, said the 30 new patrolmen are graduating from the patrol's 14-week training course.

Col. Moritz said the new group of patrolmen brings the patrol close to its authorized strength of 700, plus the Turnpike patrol force. At present, 59, of the patrol's men are assigned to the Turnpike.

"It is conceivable that the next training school, which begins in September, will put us so close to authorized strength that another recruit training program may not be planned for several months," Moritz said.

TWO GRANTED PAROLES

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Pardon and Parole Commission has granted paroles to two men sentenced to the Ohio Penitentiary for second degree murder. They are Edward Taylor, 38, Cleveland, sentenced June 24, 1945, from Cuyahoga County for the slaying of his wife Elizabeth and his father-in-law, Andre Horne; and Arthur Powell, 56, sentenced from Hamilton County, June 14, 1945, for the slaying of Josephine Barnett.

MAN IS ELECTROCUTED

SHELBY, Ohio (AP)—Samuel Turner, 48, an Ashland electrician, was electrocuted Thursday when his head apparently hit a 7,200-volt wire while he was working atop a 30-foot power pole at Shelby Air Force Depot. A co-worker, John Fisher, 41, Delaware, received a charge of electricity when he brushed against Turner's body. He was reported in fair condition at a hospital here.

John Baker Hired As Part-Time Principal
SALINEVILLE — John Baker, high school mathematics teacher, was hired as a part-time principal by the Board of Education Monday night.
Baker, in the school district for some 20 years, will aid in the school administration program. Baker will help orient the new superintendent-to-be with the aid of County School Superintendent James McBride.
The Board also awarded a $22,931 contract to the Clark and Glass Co. of Alliance for general construction of a cafeteria at the high school.
Vatican City covers an area of slightly less than 110 acres.

Wedler Telling Truth Of Killing

Suspect In Sheppard Case Gets 2nd Test

DELAND, Fla. (AP)—A lie detector expert says Donald Wedler has told "the truth or what he believes to be the truth" about the slaying of Mrs. Samuel Sheppard in Cleveland, Ohio.

Alex Gregory of Detroit made such an announcement Thursday after a second examination of the 3-year-old prisoner who on Monday "confessed" a crime resembling the Sheppard slaying in July 1954.

The "confession" is regarded with skepticism by Cleveland police.

Gregory, representing a non-official group of criminologists who call themselves the Court of Last Resort, will be joined here today by Erle Stanley Gardner, the mystery writer and head of the court.

Gregory said his tests of Wedler have been completed and that Gardner will decide whether to continue the investigation. The court, whose aim is to prove innocent persons it feels wrongly convicted, has been interested in the Sheppard case for some time.

Mrs. Sheppard's husband, a doctor, is serving a life sentence for the slaying although he maintains he is innocent.

Gregory declined to give details of exact questions he asked Wedler in 3½ hours of testing Wednesday night and almost 4 hours Thursday.

He referred newsmen to a typewritten statement saying "Donald Wedler is either telling the truth or what he believes to be the truth about the murder of Marilyn Sheppard." Marilyn was Mrs. Sheppard's first name.

Gregory did elaborate, however, by saying he asked Wedler whether he had killed a woman and that the subject replied "yes."

Gregory flew here Wednesday from Hollywood, Calif., accompanied by Park Street of San Antonio, legal expert of the court. They are expecting Gardner in mid-afternoon. Gardner will be accompanied by Henry Steeger, publisher of Argosy magazine which cooperates closely with the court.

Dr. Stephen Sheppard, brother of Samuel, canceled plans to come here today to talk to Wedler.

"When we heard that the Court of Last Resort was in it," he said, "we thought it best to stay away. We originally planned to go because we were getting no cooperation from the people up here."

Gardner asked Gov. C. William O'Neill of Ohio for permission to give Samuel Sheppard a lie detector test but the governor has not acted.

Warden Ralph Alvis of Ohio Penitentiary previously declined to permit the test for Sheppard but said "I could be overruled by the governor."

Sheppard refused a lie test prior to his trial and conviction but since has told his attorneys he would permit it.

Wedler, awaiting trial on a charge of escaping from a 10-year sentence for robbery at Tampa, told Sheriff Rodney B. Thursty in his "confession" that he hit a woman on the head two or three times with an iron pipe while ransacking her home in July 1954.

Cleveland police pointed out several discrepancies between the confession and facts in the Sheppard slaying. She was hit 35 times, they said, and the house was not ransacked.

Sheppard, who claims an intruder committed the crime, says the intruder he grappled with was large and dark haired, Wedler is 5 feet 11 and has light hair.

HELD FOR BURGLARY

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—The son of a Cleveland police lieutenant, Norman Bayless Jr., 20, was bound over to the Lake County grand jury Thursday on charges of burglary and grand larceny. He pleaded guilty to breaking into the Willoughby High School May 10 and stealing $1,750 worth of musical instruments. An accomplice, Joseph Di Tirro, 18, pleaded guilty to the same charges.

SECRETARY OF THE YEAR

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Mrs. Ruth Clemence of Chicago Thursday night was selected "Secretary of the Year" at the annual convention of the National Secretaries Assn. Third was Miss Dorothy MacKenzie of Toledo, Ohio secretary to L. C. Van Nest, president of National Laboratories Inc.

Bombing Is a Juggling Act Nowadays ---

Future wars will be fought with nuclear bombs—and when a pilot drops one of those babies, he has to scramble—quick! World War II's dive bombing is out. So new techniques have been devised and Air Force fighter-bomber wings are working to perfect them in the North African desert, about 100 miles from our big Strategic Air Command base at Wheelus in Libya. There are four new refinements of dive bombing—high and low altitude toss-bombing, skip bombing and over-the-shoulder bombing. How each works is diagrammed in sketches below.

OF THE FOUR NEW BOMBING TECHNIQUES, high altitude toss-bombing (left) comes nearest to the old dive-bombing. The pilot dives his plane and releases the bomb at pull-out point. The bomb is thus "tossed" several miles to its intended target. The pilot makes a fast climb and is safely away by the time the bomb explodes. The low-altitude toss run (right) is similar, but in reverse. The fighter comes in at tree-top level then abruptly pulls up, releasing the bomb. As it speeds ahead to its target, the pilot has reversed his course, and is headed for home.

IN SKIP-BOMBING (left) the bomb is released while the plane is traveling at supersonic speed and travels a considerable distance before coming to earth. In the meantime, the pilot makes a fast climb out of danger. Most difficult of the new techniques is "over-the-shoulder" (right). Fighter bombers come in low, then go into a complicated Immelmann turn. The bomb is released as they make their final turn. It is propelled upward several thousand feet, then loses momentum and plummets earthward. By that time, if all goes well, the plane is far away.

May Lose License Under Point System

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A 47-year-old man from Lockland, a Cincinnati suburb, may be the first person to lose his driving license under Ohio's new penalty point system. The system is aimed at reducing the state's highways of habitual traffic violators.

George C. Braden, state registrar of motor vehicles, said Fred Youngblood drew six points for drunken driving June 29, and another six on the same charge three days later.

The 27-day-old penalty point law authorizes the courts to suspend a driver's license for one year when the motorist accumulates 12 points.

Braden asked Common Pleas Court in Hamilton County to suspend Youngblood's license for a year. A hearing will be held within 40 days. The only question for the court to decide under the law is whether Youngblood is an habitual violator.

TO SEARCH FOR DAUGHTER

CENTERTVILLE, Iowa (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Strandberg have decided to join the search for their daughter Zanna Lee, 23, who disappeared in Cleveland July 8. Zanna and Virginia Glenn, her roommate in Chicago, flew to Cleveland July 4 for a vacation. Zanna was last seen when she left the apartment where the two girls were staying to take a walk. Zanna's parents said they will start the search at the apartment.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Department store sales in the Cleveland Federal Reserve District were up 2 per cent last week over the corresponding week a year ago, the Federal Reserve Board announced.

RISE OF RESEARCH — It has been said that during much of the history of the world the rate of technological change has been pretty much an accident. But during the last 50 years, more gains have been produced through science than in any previous 500. That is due largely to the great increase in scientific research and development. The Newschart above shows the rapid rise of research in recent years, expressed in terms of money spent for it — some six and a half billion dollars last year.

Spectacular Building Proposed For Cleveland Lakefront Area

CLEVELAND (AP)—An architect Thursday displayed a drawing of a shiny rectangular tower rising over an arched glass house and a squat, Y-shaped hotel, and proposed that Cleveland build it on its downtown lakefront.

R. Franklin Outcalt's plans vaguely resemble the United Nations headquarters in New York. He calls it "a vast, but dignified spectacular." Its purpose, he said, is to "stimulate and activate the core of Cleveland" so the city can "continuously maintain a concentration of people" in its downtown area.

In his drawing, the tower would be a 34-story office building, topped by a luxurious dining room and cocktail lounge overlooking Lake Erie.

The arched glass house would be the lobby to an underground exhibit hall and parking garage. The Y-shaped hotel would house visitors to the city.

Other projects in his 30-acre development would include: Conveyor belts to transport pedestrians from the spectacular, to Public Square on one side and to Municipal Stadium on the other.

Gardens, outside and under glass.

A 150 by 250 foot swimming pool for aquacades, ballets and swimming meets.

A space for summer concerts, outdoor convention exhibits, and paved parking areas.

Outcalt, who so far has been paid $23,000 for his work by the city, unveiled the plan to a meeting of 200 politicians and businessmen.

The architect proposed that the city start by building the underground exhibit hall and garage for about $18½ million dollars. This would be financed by capital improvement funds.

Then, he says, the city would put out another 17½ million to build more underground and surface parking space, roadways and "speedwalks" or pedestrian conveyor belts. Revenue bonds would provide the money.

Private investors could be persuaded to build the office tower and Y-shaped hotel, he predicted.

One of Outcalt's audience, realtor John W. Galbreath of Columbus, called the plans "outstanding" and "not unrealistic at all."

Mother Of Liberate Is Brutally Beaten

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The mother of Liberate was brutally beaten and kicked by two hooded men who attacked her Thursday night in the garage of the Liberate home in nearby Sherman Oaks.

Police said that Mrs. Frances Liberate, 65, went on an errand into the garage adjoining the home she shares with her pianist son. She tried to return to the house when she saw two men in the garage.

Mrs. Liberate said they pushed her to the floor and began kicking her.

"Hit her again, we'll have something to laugh about," she quoted one of the men as saying.

After they left she crawled into the house and telephoned a friend before she lost consciousness.

A physician treated her for multiple bruises and a possible back injury.

Liberate was not home when the attack occurred.

Police said there was no apparent motive for the attack.

Salem Woman Takes Job In Tax Office

Miss Jennie Atkinson of 614 N. Ellsworth Ave., has taken a job as clerk in the personal tax department in the county auditor's office at Lisbon replacing Mrs. Joan Dixon.

Mrs. Dixon succeeded Dave Peterson as head of the department when he accepted a job as Ohio tax examiner.

Miss Atkinson formerly worked at the First National Bank in Sebring and also was employed in the treasurer's office from 1943 to 1951 when she resigned.

Some Cigarette Filters Claimed Not Effective

WASHINGTON (AP)—A researcher said today some tobacco companies are producing filter cigarettes which have as much or more tar and nicotine than unfiltered cigarettes.

Dr. Ernest L. Wynder said "a safer cigarette can be made today by using an effective filter plus the proper blend of tobacco."

But, he added in testimony for the House Government Operations subcommittee, some companies have taken advantage of the public desire for filtered cigarettes by marketing "increasingly ineffective filters" on cigarettes containing tobacco which yields greater quantities of what he said was cancer-producing tar.

Wynder, of the Sloan-Kettering Institute for Cancer Research, said about 25,000 persons will die of lung cancer this year. He added that at least 80 per cent of these deaths could have been prevented if the patients had not smoked.

Wynder defined an "effective filter" as one which would remove at least 40 per cent of the tar and nicotine from tobacco smoke of the average regular-size cigarette.

The architect proposed that the city start by building the underground exhibit hall and garage for about $18½ million dollars. This would be financed by capital improvement funds.
